If you have a car or motorcycle registered in your name, you don't need to submit another motor vehicle tax declaration. Registering it with your name is enough, and then you'll receive a payment notice from the Tax and Customs Administration about how much you need to pay. You can check how much you owe using the calculator on their website. You can also pay by direct debit or in installments. The Vehicle Registration Register contains information such as the make of your vehicle, when it was last inspected, and its fuel efficiency label. The government is in charge of maintaining this register. If you want to see details about your vehicles online, go to the RDW website or request them in writing. You can also use the Mijn voertuigen service for more information. If you owned a vehicle that's over 9 years old, you can look up its history using the Mijn voertuigen tot 9 jaar terug bekijken service.
